
Class, Club and Group Conference Calls

For your class, club and group conference calls, we suggest you consider using a service such as www.freeconference.com. Telephone conference call services are free or low cost, at ten cents a minute/$6.00 an hour per person.

The free service, Reservationless Standard, provides a dial-in number that is not toll free. Standard long distance fees will apply for all participants. The low cost service, Reservationless Premium 800, provides a toll free dial-in number for all participants. Creating an account is simple for both the free and the low cost options. The Web site, tutorials, instructions and all links are clear and easy to navigate.

Please read the Quick Start User Guide and the Services Overview pages to decide which features suit your purposes. To compare convenient, reservationless services, see www.freeconference.com/Reservationless.aspx. Internet access is necessary to sign up and create your account; however, no internet access is necessary for your conference calls. When you have created an account, you will receive a dial-in number and access code via email.

Note: Many web based options are available. If web conferencing is suitable for your group, see www.freeconference.com/WebScheduled800-Organize.aspx for an overview and brief tutorial of available features and tools.

For maximum participation, we suggest the conference call organizer send instructions, including day, date, time, time zone, the dial-in number, and participant access code via email one week before and again one day before each call.
