Dear Smith Alumni and Friends,

Following the great success of our recent Burma trip in early 2013, I am very excited that we will be offering the same program again in January of 2014. Traveling with Jamie Hubbard, Ph.D., Professor and Chair of Religion at Smith and Yehan Numata Professor of Buddhist Studies, you will experience firsthand the rich cultural and religious heritage of this land. Also accompanying you is expert local guide, Mr. Sidney, who was hired 20 years ago by UNESCO to help with the restoration of the Pagan temples, and Tina Patterson, founder of Authentic Asia. Tina has spent the last 20 years of her life arranging in-depth educational programs to Asia and we are delighted to have her presence on this fascinating trip to Burma where she has such a breadth of knowledge and expertise.

I hope you will join us on this program. To make your reservations, please call Smith Travel toll free at 800-225-2029.

With warm regards,

Elisabeth Bignard

A very early morning flight takes us to the ancient Burmese city of Pagan. Flights arrives at 5:00 a.m. and all back on the Irrawaddy River stand thousands of pagoda and temple ruins, large and small. In its pinnacle during the 12th century, it is estimated that there were over 10,000 temples today about 2,500 remain. Later in the morning we will visit the colorful local morning market where we can catch a glimpse of daily village life. From here we continue on to the great gold-leaf Shwedagon Pagoda, considered by many to be the most important temple in the region. Check in time at the hotel is noon followed by lunch. In the afternoon we will tour more of Pagan’s most important temples. Dinner will be served at the Sunset Restaurant, located on the shores of the Irrawaddy River.

Amarat Palace Hotel (B, L, D)

We set out on a day excursion to Pwee Pwee Village, away from the tourist path, to spend time at the local primary school. We will have a chance to interact with the students and staff and learn more about the challenges of providing education in rural Burma. Upon returning to Pagan we will stop by some of Pagan’s lacquerware artisans, where the best quality lacquerware found throughout Burma is being produced. This evening we cross the Irrawaddy River in a small private boat for a lantern-lit barbecue dinner on the sandbanks.

Amarat Palace Hotel (B, D)

Today we embark on a private, two hour boat trip up the Irrawaddy River headed for Mandalay. Upon reaching the shore, our bus will meet us for the drive to Mandalay. Along the way we will stop at one of Burma’s oldest monasteries built with 332 teak pillars. Towards the end of the drive we will reach Sagaing, the living center of Buddhist faith in Burma. We will set out to learn more about Sagaing’s colonial architecture that is reminiscent of the time of the British Raj. Stops throughout the day include the cherished temples of the Inwa Daughters, the Dagonze Pagoda, and most notably, the Shwesandaw Pagoda, perhaps one of the most beautiful shrines in Asia. Built approximately 2,500 years ago, this great golden stupa stands dominate the skyline of Sagaing. It is said to contain relics of the Buddha and pilgrimages from all over to pay homage. Best seen in the evening, it is a spectacular sight as the sun sets and the pagoda’s golden glow illuminates the city. We will return to time in Rangoon’s largest market, Bogyoke Aung San, a bustling maze of shops selling souvenirs, handicrafts, as well as spend time in Rangoon’s largest market, Bogyoke Aung San, a bustling maze of shops selling souvenirs, handicrafts, and staff and learn more about the challenges of providing education in rural Burma. This evening we cross the Irrawaddy River in a small private boat for a lantern-lit barbecue dinner on the sandbanks.

Amarat Palace Hotel (B, D)

Today’s city tour will feature many highlights of Burmese culture. In the busy Mandalay neighborhood of Amarpuras we will find many important industries such as weaving, bronze, tile, pottery, baskets, and gold leaf. We will visit a weaving school where colorful longyis (skirts worn by both men and women) are produced in a distinctive heavy silk. At the gold leaf shops we will learn about the thriving gold leaf industry. Gold leaf is used to show devotion at Buddhist temples throughout Burma, where thousands of devotees press gold leaf onto the Buddha’s image. This process can be witnessed at the famous Mahamuni Temple, where the centerpiece is a 12 foot high statue of the Buddha. This statue and the gold leaf pressed upon the Buddha, the image is now covered in a six inch layer of gold.

Mandala Hill Hotel (B, L, D)

Our short morning flight is bound for the Shan State with its magical and picturesque Inle Lake. The local people, known as Intha have completely adapted to life on and around the water here and live in villages built on wooden stilts in the middle of the lake. All sightseeing around Inle Lake is done by boat, with a guide taking us into the floating vegetable, flower, and fruit gardens and the unique way in which the Intha fisherman prop their flat-bottomed boats by standing at the stern on one leg and wrapping the other leg around the oar. We will stop for a traditional Shan lunch at the Cat Heritage House, set in the middle of the lake among the floating villages. In the afternoon our cruise through the waterways continues. Just as the sunlight softens we explore the Intha culture. In the busy Mandalay neighborhood of Amarpuras we will find many important industries such as weaving, bronze, tile, pottery, baskets, and gold leaf. Mandala Hill Hotel (B, L, D)

After breakfast our boats take us to the rotating five-day market. Each village along Inle Lake holds a colorful market every five days where local Pa-O villagers come from the hillsides to trade fruits, vegetables, and other local produce with the villagers of Inle Lake. This is the production source of the delicate lotus leaf silk which is derived from the stem of the lotus flowers. We can follow the entire production process from the beginning to the end.

From Inle Lake, we drive to Jetty Town where we catch the train bound for the old British colonial hill town of Kalaw. This train was once used by the British to get up into the mountains and escape the summer heat. The two and a half hour train ride is truly a step back in time! Upon arrival in Kalaw, lunch awaits in the gardens of the Amara Resort, a lovely old Tudor style hotel that offers wonderful views of Kalaw and the Shan Mountains. In the afternoon we return by bus to Inle Lake. For those travelers who would prefer a hiking excursion to one of the Pa-O villages, we will offer a 4 to 5 hour round trip hike that starts near the hotel, passes the Chinese and Muslim cemeteries, a beautiful small monastery, and continues to the hilltop villages of the Pa-O people. In the morning we will visit the colorful local morning market where we can catch a glimpse of daily village life. From here we continue on to the great gold-leaf Shwedagon Pagoda, considered by many to be the most important temple in the region. Check in time at the hotel is noon followed by lunch. Amarat Palace Hotel (B, L, D)

We will board a morning flight back to Rangoon. Upon arrival the group will transfer to the Chatrium Hotel. Lunch will be on your own. In the afternoon we will set out to learn more about Rangoon’s thriving modern art scene while visiting some of the city’s best galleries such as the Stand Gallery and the Golden Valley Art Gallery. Pending approval, we will also enjoy a meeting with the Cultural Officer and Political Officer for a briefing on current events in Burma at the U.S. Embassy. The farewell dinner will be held at the House of Memories, an old colonial building where the hotel is now housed, as the hotel is being served as the office for Aung San Suu Kyi’s father.

Chatrium Hotel (B, L, D)

Each traveler will be transferred to the airport for their departure flight.
